TTY USERS CALL VIA MD RELAY

A MESSAGE FROM
GOVERNOR MARTIN O'MALLEY

Dear Fellow Marylanders,

I proudly join the members of the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture (MCAAHC) in presenting this 2011 annual report.

The mission of the MCAAHC is to discover, document, preserve, collect, and promote Maryland's African American heritage. The Commission also provides technical assistance to institutions and groups with similar objectives. Through the accomplishment of this mission, the MCAAHC seeks to educate Maryland citizens and visitors to our state about the significance and impact of the African American experience in Maryland.

On the heels of the 2010 General Assembly session, during which African American Heritage Preservation Program bill was passed, this year the legislators passed HB 1253, which expanded the size and authority of the Commission. The Commission grew from nine to twenty-one members to provide a more comprehensive approach to fulfilling its mission. MCAAHC was also granted authority to generate state-wide heritage programming efforts beyond the Dr. Martin Luther King holiday in an effort to promote more Maryland-specific programming.

I am confident the MCAAHC will help foster more avenues for expression and a greater appreciation of the African American experience in Maryland.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, reading 'Martin O'Malley'.

Martin O'Malley
Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE OF COMMUNITY INITIATIVES

Dear Friends,

The Governor's Office of Community Initiatives (GOCI) coordinates community and volunteer activities statewide and advises the Governor on policies to enhance and improve community programs. This office coordinates outreach to ethnic and cultural communities across Maryland, through the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture, the Governor's Commission on Hispanic Affairs, the Governor's Office and Commission on Asian Pacific American Affairs, the Governor's Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs, the Governor's Commission on African Affairs, the Maryland Council for New Americans and the Maryland Commission on Indian Affairs. Other divisions include the Governor's Office on Service and Volunteerism, Volunteer Maryland and community outreach in cooperation with the Governor's Intergovernmental Affairs Office to serve the Executive Branch of Maryland government.

In 2011 the legislators passed HB 1253, which increase membership from nine to twenty-one members. This move will advance the Commission's goal of providing a county-by-county exchange of ideas and objectives regarding local African American heritage initiatives.

Dr. Joni Jones is the Director of the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture and the Banneker Douglass Museum. She possesses the leadership skills to assist the Commission and the Museum in fulfilling their respective missions. The Commission continues to encourage cultural preservation and foster documentation of historic sites, cultural institutions and identify resources to aid in preservation initiatives.

This report is reflective of the commitment and dedication the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture demonstrates regularly throughout the State of Maryland.

Israel C. "Izzy" Patoka
Executive Director
Governor's Office of Community Initiatives

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

The Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture (MCAAHC) is pleased to present our 2011 annual report. This year, we began to see the fruits of our efforts with the African American Heritage Preservation Grant Program. The report includes the list of awardees as well as images of their wonderful projects.

You will also note that the MCAAHC, under the Governor's Office of Community Initiatives, has been working diligently to increase our partnership with organizations who are working to reveal the previously undocumented and under-recognized aspects of African American life and culture in their own communities.

Pivotal to African American history preservation in Maryland, is the mission and work of the Banneker-Douglass Museum staff. Through exhibitions, programs and community involvement, their continual offerings have been stellar. Those achievements are the direct result of the consistently forward leadership of the museum's director, Dr. Joni Jones. Her ability to focus on a structured path to success and her willingness to partner with a variety of organizations and institutions in the community has expanded exposure of the museum's exhibitions and programs and increased visitors.

In this report you will find a snapshot of the activities and events in which the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture and its partners have been involved during 2011.

I cordially invite you to attend our meetings that will be held throughout the State and to visit the Banneker-Douglass Museum to share the rich history you have helped us preserve.

MCAAHC & BANNEKER-DOUGLASS MUSEUM A MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

The Banneker-Douglass Museum (BDM) is a vital component of the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture, which is a unit of the Governor's Office of Community Initiatives. As the State of Maryland's official museum of African American heritage, the BDM serves to document, interpret, and preserve the history and culture of African American Marylanders through exhibitions, programs, and projects in order to improve the understanding and appreciating of American's rich cultural diversity for all.

It is my distinct pleasure to serve the dual role of director of both the BDM and the MCAAHC.

With the expansion in the size and scope of the Commission, we will increase our preservation activities while exploring and documenting contributions by African American Marylanders on nearly a county/city-by-county/city basis. And, thanks to the support of the Banneker-Douglass Museum Foundation, the Friends of Banneker-Douglass Museum, and our multiple partners, the Banneker-Douglass Museum has increased its reputation as a model for community-based exhibitions and programming throughout the state.

On behalf of the members of the Commission and the Museum staff, allow me to express a word of thanks to our heritage partners and visitors for their continued allegiance to the Maryland Commission on African American History & Culture and the Banneker-Douglass Museum.

Sincerely,

Joni Jones

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Commission Growth

On April 12, 2011, Governor O'Malley signed into law House Bill 1253. The law

- * increased the size to the MCAAHC from nine to twenty-one members
- * granted greater authority to MCAAHC to create state-sponsored programs and projects of significance to Maryland's African American heritage

Members of the MCAAHC, BDM staff, and GOCI attend the signing of House Bill 1253

African American Heritage Preservation Grant Program

The goal of the African American Heritage Preservation Grant Program (AAHPGP) is to identify and preserve buildings, communities and sites of historical and cultural importance to the African American experience in Maryland. Passed during the 2010 General Assembly session, the program offers assistance to non-profit organizations, local jurisdictions, business entities, and private citizens in their sponsorship of successful acquisition, construction, or improvement of African American heritage projects.

This competitive program, offered once per year, is supported through an annual appropriation from the Maryland General Assembly. The AAHPGP is administered as a joint partnership of the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture and the Maryland Historical Trust.

This year's grant awards ranged from $13,000 to $100,000.

MCAAHC and MHT hosted five grant workshops for this program :

- March 7, 2011 -- Harriet Tubman Museum—Cambridge—Dorchester County
- March 10, 2011 -- Calvert Marine Museum—Calvert County
- March 14, 2011 -- Great Blacks in Wax Museum—Baltimore City
- March 15, 2011 -- Prince George's African American Museum & Cultural Center, Gateway Arts Center, Brentwood—Prince George's County
- March 16, 2011 -- C. Burr Artz Library—Frederick County

Dr. Walter Hill Fellowship Program in Archives

The fellowship program is named in honor of Dr. Walter B. Hill, archivist, historian, and former member of the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture. This fellowship is designed to encourage and to support the study of African Americans in Maryland and/or the participation by African Americans in the field of archival science.

The 2011 Walter Hill Fellow was responsible for researching, surveying, and processing the archives of the Maryland Commission of African American History & Culture. Under the supervision of the MCAAHC-BDM Director, the fellow divided her time between working at the Banneker-Douglass Museum and its offsite storage facility. The fellow concluded the program by producing a finding aid for the MCAAHC and making a formal public presentation of her findings.

Ms. Ja-Zette Marshburn was selected as the very first Walter Hill Fellow in Archives. A lifelong Marylander hailing from the historic Prince George's County, Ja-Zette recently transplanted to Montgomery County. She is pursuing a Master's in Archival Science and Information Management at the University of Maryland College Park.

Ja-Zette Marshburn Reflects on the Importance of the Fellowship

I have had lifelong love of history coupled with the serendipitous training in the archival profession since I was a young child. I can remember perusing my grandmother's collection of Ebony and Jet magazines that went back to the 1940s and being so enamored by them; I took great care to read and preserve them. It was also during this time that my love and zest for history began particularly with a deep interest in African American history and culture. I was an accomplished student and was awarded several scholarships finally bringing me to pursue my collegiate studies at the renowned Hampton University, a historically black university located in Hampton, Virginia. Unfortunately, after a number of misfortunes, I could not finish my studies at Hampton, but with tragedy comes triumph. I graduated with honors from University of Maryland University College (UMUC) with a major in History with an emphasis on African American studies.

Once I completed my undergraduate studies, I knew I wanted to continue my education at UMUC's sister school, University of Maryland College Park (UMCP) because of its affiliation with world-renowned information institutions, most specifically the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) and its connection to Dr. Walter Hill.

Dr. Walter Hill was an author, teacher and historical consultant but most specifically, he was a senior archivist and African American subject area specialist at NARA. He was also a former member of the MCAAHC and I am invested in being able to continue Dr. Hill's and the MCAAHC vision to illuminate the African American experience in Maryland with the use of archival records. I am honored and excited to be working here in a fellowship with named after one of my heroes in the archival profession. I am delighted to be working with the staff at the Banneker-Douglass Museum in a pursuit to process the archival records of the MCAAHC with a goal to elucidate individuals on the commission's history and purpose that will educate and enlighten generations to come.

MUSEUM HISTORY

The Banneker-Douglass Museum, named for Benjamin Banneker and Frederick Douglass, is dedicated to preserving Maryland's African American heritage, and serves as the state's official repository of African American material culture. The museum is administered by the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture.

The museum was dedicated on February 24, 1984. The original museum was housed within the former old Mount Moriah African Methodist Episcopal Church in the heart of historic Annapolis. The Victorian-Gothic structure was included in the Annapolis Historic District in 1971 and placed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1973. The addition is a four-story addition (one underground story) which uses the nineteenth-century brick of the church's north façade as its interior lobby wall.

The museum annually sponsors and hosts a variety of preservation, arts, and cultural lectures, workshops, performances, and other programs. Museum collections include artifacts and photographs relevant to black life in Maryland, African and African American art, historical documents, and rare books. Guided exhibition tours are arranged for school classes and other groups upon request. Exhibits may also be arranged for loan or travel. Books, manuscripts, oral histories, sound recordings, and archival materials are available for use in the Sylvia Gaither Garrison Library by appointment.

NEW STAFF

Tabitha Pryor is the new Curator of Collections at the Banneker-Douglass Museum. Originally from Hagerstown, a small town in Western Maryland, Tabitha received her B.A. from Bridgewater College in Virginia. She obtained her Master's degree in History at the University of Delaware as well as a certificate in Museum Studies.

Her primary responsibility at the Banneker-Douglass is caring for the museum's extensive collection of artifacts which provide an invaluable window into four centuries of African American life in Maryland. Tabitha also has the essential task of ensuring that these important objects are being properly preserved, catalogued, and displayed so that future generations of historians and citizens will be able to examine them for evidence about our shared past. She is looking for more ways to incorporate the museum's collection in exhibits at the museum itself as well as for educational purposes throughout the state.

LeRonn Herbert is the Outreach Coordinator at Banneker-Douglass Museum as well as the Commission Assistant for the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture. LeRonn earned his BS in Industrial Print Management from California University of Pennsylvania in California, Pa. In addition, he was the recipient of the Angelo Armenti Presidential Scholarship, which afforded him the opportunity to have his graduate studies paid in full by California University of Pennsylvania where he earned an MBA in Industrial Management. His primary responsibilities are to support the Director of the Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture and Banneker-Douglass Museum, provide support for Maryland Commission on African American History and Culture, lead marketing/publicity programs, devise volunteer program, supervise interns and volunteers, coordinate site rentals, lead museum tours and perform main desk duties at the Banneker-Douglass Museum.

Family Activity Gallery

August 7, 2010 – May 2011

This exhibition was a collaboration between the Banneker-Douglass Museum and Growing Girls and Gardens, a program of the Middle Grades Partnership with Roland Park Country School and Garrison Middle School in Baltimore. The exhibit invited families and youth groups to learn about the many people, places, and events shaping Maryland's African American history and culture through hands on activities, games, crafts, and a scavenger hunt.

Each of the activities included in the exhibition were researched and designed by high school senior girls participating in the program. They complement the permanent exhibition, Deep Roots, Rising Waters.

Shaping History through Service: The Walter Mills Story

October 31, 2010 – June 2011

In 1939, Walter Mills, an educator at Parole Elementary School in Annapolis, MD, fought for African American teachers in Anne Arundel County to receive the same pay rate as white teachers. The court case was successfully argued by attorney and Maryland native Thurgood Marshall and brought an end to unequal pay for teachers in Anne Arundel County, and eventually the entire State of Maryland. This exhibition explored Walter Mills' pursuit of education, the fight for the rights of others, and his career as an educator at Parole Elementary School through the monumental lawsuit that changed the way teachers were paid to his lifelong commitment to service and the Annapolis community. This exhibition includes rarely seen photos, objects, and documents in the process of telling the life story of Walter Mills.

Parole Elementary School: Class of 1954

A Companion Exhibition

October 31, 2010 – April 2, 2011

Walter Mills' legal battle was one of many victories Thurgood Marshall and the NAACP took their fight for access to equal education for all students. This fight continued for several years, eventually leading to the landmark 1954 Supreme Court case Brown v. Board of Education which overturned the policy of separate but equal education. This famous court case changed the face of education literally and figuratively through the integration of schools throughout the country.

Members of the community enjoy Class of 1954

The pictures exhibited on this floor of the exhibition showed the faces of Parole Elementary School in 1954, the year of the Brown v. Board of Education decision. Identification sheets were located in the exhibit to allow community input.

Music to Our Ears: The Sounds of the African American Experience at Carr's and Sparrow's Beaches, Part II

May 31, 2011 - September 4, 2011

Carr's and Sparrow's Beaches, located on the Annapolis Neck Peninsula, served as popular entertainment venues for African Americans throughout the Eastern seaboard from 1929 through 1980. The beaches offered recreation and entertainment options for African Americans during segregation. Sparrow's Beach hosted family and church groups while Carr's Beach provided more lively entertainment including weekly Sunday afternoon concerts featuring the biggest performers of the day. Musicians including Chuck Berry, James Brown, Fats Domino, Ella Fitzgerald, Aretha Franklin, Sarah Vaughan, and Stevie Wonder attracted audiences from places throughout the East Coast every weekend.

The Music to Our Ears project was a collaborative effort between Anne Arundel County Public Schools, Banneker-Douglass Museum, Banneker-Douglass Museum Foundation, and Blacks of the Chesapeake Foundation.

PROSPERITY! ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITIES AROUND

Local DJ, Hoppy Adams of DC-based radio station WANN became the voice of Carr's and Sparrow's beaches. His Sunday afternoon broadcasts drew throngs of people with money to spend.

Everybody worked on the gate... schoolteachers, principals. They had on the gate about eight teachers on each side, and they would be further up the road on each side of the gate, because they'd be talking about thousands of people coming in." — George Phelps

THE POPULARITY OF CARR'S AND SPARROW'S BEACHES grew rapidly, prompting small businesses along the Forest Drive corridor to grow and prosper. Employment opportunities developed to support the beach-going crowds.

Carr's and Sparrow's Beaches were popular spots for teachers to spend their summers making a few extra dollars. Most of the jobs were limited to summer and part time, yet many found paychecks as the guards, security guards, concession stand attendants and restaurant help at the local oyster house restaurant and other businesses.

Carr's Beach also served as one of BOKEB JOE LOUIS'S TRAINING CAMPS where as many as 1,500 people would turn out to watch him jab and spar.

OPERATION COOPERATION was a team of local people paid to ensure security and safety at the beaches. This security team provided supervision of activities, maintained security of all the money, and monitored that people followed all beach rules.

Thomas R. Baden: Distinctive Depictions of a Local Community A Companion Exhibition

May 31, 2011 - September 4, 2011

Annapolis native Thomas Baden, also known as “Tommy B,” turned his love and talent for photography into a purpose: capturing the underexposed history and culture of the local African American community. Mr. Baden was a frequent photographer for Carr’s Beach and Sparrow’s Beach; many of the photographs used in the Music to Our Ears exhibition are his handiwork. This companion exhibit was a small sampling of the Thomas Baden Collection at the Banneker-Douglass Museum, which consists of over 3,000 photographs.

Cisco Davis: Selected Works on the American Experience

June 23, 2011 - September 10, 2011

Based in Baltimore, Cisco Davis developed his craft as an artist while serving in the United States Army and continued his pursuit of a career in art as a commissioned artist. His work showed clear influences from Cal Massey and classical inspiration from Rembrandt. His stated that his primary goal with art is to educate the public. “I believe art is life,” said Davis. “The simple things in life that we seem to ignore, the artist explores,” he added.

Black Gold Jazz by Cisco Davis

Cisco Davis: Selected Works on the American Experience included an assortment of 20 works that illustrated milestones in African American history, as well as deep personal studies by the artist. The exhibition included paintings and mixed-media pieces.

Loring Cornish: Selections from 'In Each Other's Shoes'

October 2, 2011 – March 31, 2012

What do you get when you mix dilapidated doors, old nails, broken bottles, scraps of metal, shards of glass, and pieces of tile with well-worn shoes, old basketballs, outdated telephones, scraps of metal, and leftover paint? If you are Loring Cornish, this hodgepodge of seemingly unrelated found objects is way to explore commonalities among peoples, histories, and ideas.

From African Americans to Jewish Americans, from the Middle Passage to the Holocaust, and from discrimination, isolation, and suffering to triumph, renewal, and harmony, Cornish's crafting of assembled found objects invited the viewer into his life, his work, and indeed his world. Cornish's work asked you to think about the nature of art, what constitutes waste, and how to express your socio-spiritual self.

Target Shalom, 2008 by Loring Cornish

Art is Believing: The Creative Process of Loring Cornish

October 2, 2011 – March 31, 2012

Learn how and why Cornish uses a mixture of items others might consider “just trash” as materials for thought-provoking mosaics that speak to shared human experiences. This exhibition included a 10 minute video of the artist discussing his work and an art station for young people to create their own Cornish-inspired works of art.

Flee! Stories of Flight from Maryland in Black and White

November 1, 2011- April 14, 2012, Permanent Exhibition

Nov. 1, 2011 marked the 147th anniversary of the passage of Maryland Constitution Article 24 of 1864, which abolished slavery in the state of Maryland. Designed by the Maryland State Archives' Study of Legacy of Slavery in Maryland, this traveling exhibition commemorated that momentous occasion and provided the historical context of those who fought to free themselves prior to the constitution. It highlighted rare historical documents that gave testament to the daily operation of slavery in Maryland. Also displayed were documents and objects from that era that are part of the BDM's permanent collection.

Faces of Ghana: A Photography Exhibit by Jay L. Baker

December 15, 2011 - June 2, 2012, Temporary Gallery

The exhibition focused on “lifestyle pictures” Baker took while on an excursion to Ghana with the famed Morgan State University Choir in August 2007. Its colorful photographs highlighted activity at the marketplace, life by the ocean shores of Ghana and shared experiences between children and adults. They are expressions of the everyday life in Ghana and served as a means to educate and celebrate the cultural essence of what was formerly known as the British colony of the Gold Coast. Ghana holds the distinction of being the first African country to acquire independence from European rule.

A Baltimore native, Baker presently serves as Chief Photographer in the administration of Maryland Governor Martin O'Malley — the first African American to hold that position in Maryland history.

STORAGE: DIGITAL and PHYSICAL

PastPerfect

- Increased the number of objects in the database by over 90%
- Began process of adding photographs to every item entered into the database
- Instituted Processes and Procedures for all staff and volunteers using the program

Onsite Storage Facility

- Currently working on a proposal for Storage facility companies to outfit the Collection Storage Room with state-of-the-art storage units
- Met with Erin Titter of SpaceSavers for preliminary consultation and design

Examples of museum storage units available through Spacesavers

ART HANGING SYSTEM

- Completed a course offered by AEC Daily Corporation that provided an overview of wall hanging systems with a focus on integrating systems in the overall design of a project. It included discussions on system elements, selection criteria, specialty applications, and sustainable design.
- Sought a system that could be painted to match the walls to preserve architectural integrity of building
- Contacted local vendors who offered hanging systems for prices and samples.
- Met with consultants from Adler Display, Artex, and iLevel about options for a system in the Verda Welcome Hall, Herbert Frisby Hall, and the Temporary Gallery.
- Slated for installation in April 2012.

Example of the hanging system to be installed in the galleries

COLLECTION MOVE

The original contract for storage with Jefferson Patterson Park and Museum was for temporary storage in JPPM's climate controlled storage facility. JPPM is currently working to expand their storage unit and needed the space that the BDM collection was using for their own collection and could not renew the contract. Additionally, JPPM is approximately 1 1/2 hours away from Annapolis making access to the collection limited at best. Now, the collection is located in Annapolis allowing for easier access as well as scheduling regular days for cataloging off-site.

Packing

- Packed majority of boxes during collection survey.
- Rehoused objects that needed extra care during move into more secure boxes with custom cut polyethylene foam blocks.

Moving Companies

- Contacted Maryland based companies familiar with large scale moves and fragile items.
- BDM required prior meeting with companies before selecting mover.

JPPM Facilities Staff moving BDM pianos from second floor to first floor

Two Day Moving Process

- Day One- Packing pianos and moving them from second floor to first.
- Day Two- Moving entire collection from St. Leonard, Maryland to Annapolis

SYLVIA GAITHER GARRISON LIBRARY

HIGHLIGHTS

Services

In the past year, the archivist of the Sylvia Gaither Garrison Library was instrumental in helping to bring Loring Cornish's art to the Banneker-Douglass Museum, which resulted in two exhibits: In Each Other's Shoes: Selections from Loring Cornish and Art is Believing: The Creative Process of Loring Cornish. He conducted research for Thomas R. Baden: Distinctive Depictions of a Local Community; he helped elementary, middle, high school, and college students with research papers on various Marylanders of African descent; and helped several genealogical researchers find family members. In particular, he helped a gentleman find a relative who met with Frederick Douglass. As you can image, the gentleman was overjoyed to discover that the story he heard his relatives tell was indeed true.

Sylvia Gaither Garrison Library Fourth Anniversary

The staff of the Sylvia Gaither Garrison Library hosted the library's fourth anniversary at the Wiley H. Bates Legacy Center in Annapolis, Maryland. C. R. Gibbs, an author, international lecturer, and historian of the African Diaspora, served as the keynote speaker. His lecture focused on enslaved African Americans from Maryland who bravely fled from the institution of slavery in order to live in freedom.

A Donor of Distinction

During African American History Month, Louie McKinney, the first career deputy to be appointed the acting director of the United States Marshals Service, donated a copy of his memoir: One Marshal's Badge to the Sylvia Gaither Garrison Library (SGGL) at the Banneker-Douglass Museum (BDM). Before serving as a special investigator for the FBI, McKinney served with distinction in the U.S. Marshals Service. He guarded John Hinckley, Jr., the man who attempted to assassinate President Ronald Reagan. He, in addition, was a member of the Special Operations Group, a unit who is held in high esteem in the U.S. Marshals Service. Mr. McKinney has also worked with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

As with most men of distinction, Hollywood came calling. As a result, Chase, a television show which presents the work of a U.S. Marshal, employed McKinney as a consultant.

Louie McKinney donates his book to the SGGL.

New Faces: SGGL--Summer Assistants

Michelle Angeli, a University of Maryland at Baltimore County graduate with a Bachelor of Arts in history, served from June 8, 2011 -August 25, 2011 as the SGGL 2011 Summer Intern. She created three indexes for three vertical files in the library.

Virginie Carton, a French citizen, volunteered on July 17, 2011. She helped Michelle index some of the vertical files in the library proper.

Michelle Angeli and Steve Carioti, 2011 Summer Assistants

Steve Carioti, a student at Prince George's County Community College, volunteered from June 8, 2011-August 18, 2011. During that time, he organized the Dr. Walter Hill Collection, the Dr. Herbert M. Frisby Collection, and housed hundreds of photographs from the Banneker-Douglass Museum Photo Archives.

BANNEKER-DOUGLASS MUSEUM FOUNDATION NEWS

EXTRAORDINARY SERVICE

After several decades of service, two exemplary members of the Banneker-Douglass Museum and Friends of Banneker-Douglass Museum decided to retire this year.

Mrs. Yevola Peters

On March 8, 1976, Mrs. Yevola Peters, along with Carroll Greene and Thomas R. Dawson established the Banneker-Douglass Museum Foundation. Now a retired educator and fervent community activist, Mrs. Peters counts as one of her many distinctions, being the longest serving BDMF president. It was during her watch that the Foundation was awarded a grant from the Maryland Bicentennial Commission to have world-famous artist, Hughie Lee-Smith, create three portraits: Benjamin Banneker, Frederick Douglass, and Thurgood Marshall. She also mustered community support during the museum's multi-million dollar expansion in 2005-6. And she served as both interviewee and historical consultant for the Banneker-Douglass Museum's documentary, From Cause to Reality: the Banneker-Douglass Museum Story.

Hon. Aris T. Allen provides funds to "Save Mt. Moriah Committee" members Carroll Green and Yevola Peters. According to Mrs. Peters, "the picture was taken in the first office location of the Commission here in Annapolis at 20 Dean Street, as we were working to "Save Mt. Moriah Building" for it to become the Banneker-Douglass Museum. Dr. Allen was then a Delegate and a member of the 'Save Mt. Moriah Committee'".

Yevola Peters accepts the Living Legend Award from the Hon. Joshua Cohen, mayor of Annapolis, June 8

Yevola Peters accepts flowers from Dr. Joni Jones at BDMF retirement party for Mrs. Peters, May 13

Mrs . Thelma Sparks

The Friends of Banneker-Douglass Museum was established as an affiliate of the Banneker-Douglass Museum Foundation, Inc. on January 10, 1978. One of its earlier members, Mrs. Thelma Sparks has been a driving force of the Friends for over thirty years.

During her tenure, Mrs Sparks held nearly every office on the Banneker-Douglass Museum Foundation and the Friends of Banneker-Douglass Museum's boards of directors. She helped plan the annual heritage festivals, plus numerous food and clothing drives. Perhaps her greatest accomplishment is the creation of the Friends of Banneker-Douglass Museum cookbook, which provides documentary evidence of both organizations while presenting delicious recipes for traditional African American dishes. The cookbook continues to be a best-selling item in the museum's gift shop.

INTERESTED IN VOLUNTEERING?

Do you have a passion for history?

Do you like sharing that passion with others?

If you answered “yes” to both of these questions, the Banneker- Douglass Museum has a great opportunity for you!

The Banneker-Douglass Museum (BDM) is looking for volunteers for its Volunteer Docent Program. Docents provide interactive education through tours and public programming. We are looking for individuals, age 14 and older, who would like to get involved with community education. The BDM is in need of individuals to provide school tours and to assist with special programming and events for schools and the general public.
